

Inspired Giving Series

The Inspired Giving Series, established by Inspired Closets Vermont, is making a significant impact on the local community through its thoughtful and inclusive approach to philanthropy. By creating a structured yet flexible program, the series ensures that support is directed towards organizations that might otherwise struggle to secure necessary funding.

One of the unique aspects of the Inspired Giving Series is its client-driven donation process. After completing their projects, clients are surveyed and given the opportunity to choose from three non-profit organizations. This democratic approach not only engages clients in the giving process but also amplifies the voices of the community in determining where aid is most needed. The chosen organization receives a substantial donation in the fall, directly supporting their mission to aid people in need, the environment, and children.

Additionally, Inspired Closets Vermont involves its employees in the charitable process. Twice a year, employees nominate organizations close to their hearts. A drawing determines the winning organization, which receives a donation presented by the nominating employee. This practice not only fosters a culture of giving within the company but also ensures that a diverse array of organizations benefit from the program.

The impact of the Inspired Giving Series is multifaceted. It boosts the capacities of underfunded organizations, addresses various community needs, and encourages a culture of generosity among clients and employees alike. By empowering both clients and employees to have a say in the distribution of donations, Inspired Closets Vermont creates a ripple effect of goodwill and support throughout the community, proving that thoughtful giving can indeed make a distinctive impact.
